LITERARY NOTES.

PROM HOME PAPERS. The attempt that is being made to restore the monument to James Thomson at Dry burgh Abbey is not likely, we are afraid to meet with an enthusiastic response. . Jemmy' Thomson is pratty well forgotten by the present generation. Does any one now read 'The Sessons' or 'The Castle of Indolence '? Yet there was a time when people did read them, and Thomson had an unchallenged reputation : so much so that nobody was at all surprised when they put, up a memorial to him in Westminster Abbey. Such critics as Hazlitt, Johnson Colerid, o, and Sainte-Beuve have paid considerable attention to him. Hazlitt thought him the best of our descriptive poets; Scinte-Beuve said he excelled in large pictures and gener 1 effects: 'Rya de la mosse chez Thomson.' Wordsworth, Shelley, and Byron were influenced by the 'Seasons,' and Haydn set some of the frigid blank verse lines to music. All the same, most people will now find themunreadable.

But one poem of Thomson's has secured' immortality. Few people remember that here: was the author, or part-author, of the verses?" of 'Rule Britannia.' In 1704 a demmatic masque, called 'Alfred,' by Thomson and Mallet, was produced, in which the song Rule Britannia ' occurs. Mallet, who was not an over-scrupulous person, gave it to be understood that the verses were his. But there is little doubt that they were written,. in whole or in part, by James Thomson.

The author of 'The Can le of Indelence' was a characteristically indolent men. Hut he lived a fairly prosperous eighteently century existence. Born in 1700, the son of a Scotch minister, he came to London in 1725, PAT-A-CAKE. became a tutor to the son of a nobleman. and in 173) published 'The Sessons' by subscription, getting 387 subscribers at a guinea a copy. Modern poets would be glad to do as well, especially as Thomson's guineas had perhaps three times their present purchasing power. Then he wrote the tragedy in which occurred the unhappy lne, O, Sophonisba, Sophonisba, O'l' promptly turned by parody into 'O, Jemmy Thomson, Jemmy Thomson, G! After this Thomson got one pleasant little sinecure post after another, including that of Surveyor-General of the Leeward Isles (the duties performed by deputy), which brought him in £300 a year. So he settled down snugly to a life of lettered case in a house, with a garden and a couple of fields, at Kew-lane. Here he wrote The Castle of Indolence' and some more drams; but, unfortunately, taking a boat one cool night at Hammersmith, when heated by walking from London, he caught a fover, and died in the ferty-eighth year of his age.

> The best work on Thom on is in French, Professor Leon Morel's 'James Thomson, sa Vie et ses Œuvres,' which appeared in 1895. There is also a German monograph by Herr Schmeding in 1889, and a good edition of the Poems, with a Memoir, by Mr D. C. Tovey in 1897. Mr J. Logie L. Robertson has edited a Selection for the Clarendon Press.

In the new number of the 'Quarterly Review' Mr Edward Wright has a paper called 'The Romanco of the Outlands," meaning those novels which deal with the more remote or less known peoples and places of the earth. It is curious how many of the best stories of the past few years fall underthis heading. The Quarterly takes note of eleven writers, and some thirty books, which include Mr Hudson's! Purple A present in occupation of the Steam Land 'Mr Conrad's 'Nostromo,' the works of Lafcadio Hearn, Mr A. J. Dawson's African Night's Entertainment, and Miss Robins's 'Magnetic North.' Mr Wright says that this group of novelists 'represents the freshest and most genuine movement in our literature during late years,' and we are not suce that he is wrong.

> Mr Rudyard Kipling would commonly be regarded as the pioneer of this movement; but it must be remembered that Mr Hudson's 'Purple Land,' that strange and fascinating picture of South American life, appeared a few years before 'Plain Tales from the Hills ' arrived in England. Ap-1467 parently it was a few years too con-

For functional troubles, delay, pain and those irregularities peculiar to

'The Purple Land' had no success, and attracted very little attention. Its author concluded that his vocation did not lie in the writing of romances, and turned to travel, geography, and oraithology. The world gained a good naturalist and lost a great novelist; though it has not lost him altogether, for Mr Hudson has again turned to fiction, after abandoning it for some

In the 'Author,' Mr G. Barnard Shaw, without whom no newspaper is now complete, has an onelaught on the publisher. Mr Shaw regards him as a mixtur of impostor and robber, which is scarcely worthy of his originality. The joke against the publisher is an old one, and was never very good. It was even a little faded at the date of Byron's Now Barabhas was a publisher. which was said of the founder of that highly respectable and digrified dynasty of publishers, ' John Murray the First.'

Mr Shaw is under the impression that the publisher's opinion on literary point is valueless-which, no doubt, it frequently is. He says :-

'I have had tons of his sympathetic advice; and I owe all my literary success to the fact that I have known my own business well enough never to take it.'

What this self-effacing man of letters demands from his commercial associate is really little.,

I don't expect absolute truth, being mysolf a professional manufacturer of fiction; indeed I should not recognise perfect truth if it were offered to me. 4. don't demand entire honesty being only moderately honest myself. What I want is a businesslike gambler in books, who will give me the market odds when we bet on the success of my latest work."

We fancy that, in these days, the author of established reputation like Mr Shaw generally can get the market odds. The difficulty is with the writer who has not "arrived.' It is not always easy to know what the risks are in his case, and there is a natural tendency on the part of the pub lisher to exaggerate his share of them.

One of the minor operations of the London County Council, which even the virulent opponents of that much criticised body regard with acquiescence, is the indication of houses of historic interest in London by putting small enamelled plaques on them. There is some danger of overdoing the process, for the houses in which somebody of some importance has lived are very numerous indeed in the central residential parts of London. Almost every house in Cavendish-square or Harley-street. or St. James'-square, must have sheltered its celebrity some time or other. However, an ene will object to the tablet at 14, York place, Portman-square, where William Pitt resided with his niece, Ludy Hester Stanhope, in her youth the brilliant idel of London Society, in her later life a kind of 28 or 30 days chieftainess among the wild tribes of the Lebanon. The picture given of her in Kinglake's 'Eothen' had a good deal to do with the instant success of that once popular travel-book.

DEGGARS. '

ADMIRABLE as is the control which the Government keeps, over beggars in this Colony, there is still opportunity for further suppression. Most people have little or no objection to the clean beggar, the ill-clad beggar, or the beggar blessed with a small wife, a large family and not employment. What they do protest against is the beggan who is mis-shapen to unsightliness or lacking in what might be called efficient anatomical equipment. Several such roam at large about the Colony, and notwithstanding that platitudinous retort will probably come that the poor, the halt, the lame and the blind, must always be with us as necessary concomitants of fin de 1278 siècle civilisation we beg to suggest that the particular unforturate who to earth down the conductor without doing daily makes a bunting ground of any damage whatever to the chimney or Gibraltar Dockyard. An extraordinary story of alleged imper- gram to go in. sonation and forgery was told is Original Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, before His Honour the Chief Justice (Sir ever. Francis Piggoti), this morning.

The plaintiff (Lo Kwong Chiu) sued the Peralta) and asked that a document date March 28, 1905, purporting to bo a deed of mortgage by the plaintiff to the defendant Inland Lot No 7, be set aside, and that the registration thereof in the Land Office be cancelled; that a declaration be made by Mr Pollock-Has Lo Kwong San sold his the Court that the said document was a forgery and void and that no charge upon the pieco of land or the plaintiff's interest thereof be effected thereby.

Mc E. H. Sharp, K. C., and Mr | chase ?-No H. G. Calthrop (instructed by Mr H, A. Mr Bonner was informed that Messrs Ewens. Harston and Harding knew nothing about the alleged mortgage and that Lo Kwong Chiu was under age. The draft of the assignment was handed over to him. Messrs Ewens, Harston and Harding, being uneasy in consequence of what they had heard, wrote to plaintiff's father in Macao. On the following day a telegram was received from Macao, in consequence of which they wrote to Messrs Donnys and Bowley to the following effect :- Telegraphic instructions have been received from Macao that Lo Kwong Chlu is in Macao and that some one is attempting to impersonate him to raise money on the property. The other four brothers are also in Macao and have no intention of disposing of their shares. Please take notice that we are acting for all the sons.' Later on in the same day Lo Kwong Chiu arrived from Macao, and Messrs Ewens, Harston and Harding informed Messra Dennys and Bowley that they intended to institute writing of the two letters, Mr Bonner had called on Messrs Ewens. Harston and so that notwithstanding the prompt action on the part of plaintiff's solicitor they were going through. Mr Bonner told them that the man Lo Kwong Chiu had been Hin, who epresented that he was Lo Kwoug Chiu's uncle. (Mr Sharp thought it would be proved that Lo Kwong Chiu had no such uncle.) Mr Bonner further explained that the man introduced by Lo Chuk Hin was pock-marked. ### MURDERS BY A NEGRO.

Ghastly Scenes on a Ship.

The story of the massacre of practically the whole of a ship's crew and passengers by a negro off the coast of Honduras has just reached Queenstown.

seems that on the night of June 30 the | methods in every department of life. trading schooner "Olympian" left the had on board, in addition to the captain and three men who formed the crew, nine passengers, including four women and two children. At midnight the passengers were alarmed at the sound of firearms and shouts of 'murder,' which came from the deck, and the women, going on deck, were horrified to see the dead bodies of the captain and several men lying around, and a negro, armed with a Winchester rifle, shooting down the remaining men.

After the negro had killed all but one of the men, he ordered the last survivor to go below and scuttle the vessel, but no sconer had the man reappeared on deck than the negro shot him dead. He then got out the ship's boat and put two women-Miss Elsie Morgan and her sister, Mrs Walter Roseand the latter's infant, six weeks' old, into it, and, jumping in himself, set out to row for the mainland, abandoning the schooner, then believed to be in a sinking state, After rowing for a distance, he killed Mrs Rose and her child, and shot at Miss Morgan, wounding her in the arm. Eventually Miss Morgan jumped overboard and started to swim to the island, but with an injured and bleeding arm it was not an gasy task. The negro fired a couple of shots at her, but they did not hit her. He asked her to come back to the boat, saying he would not harm her, but when she got within reach of his oar he hit her on the head, stunning her. Believing that she was killed, he rowed on.

Miss Morgan recovered, however, and again struck out for the island, floating on her back now and again for rest, and during the morning she was thrown a hore by the waves more dead than alive. She subsequently succeeded in reaching a house on the coast, where she received with kind treatment, and after two days was able to report the occurrence to the authorities.

They made a prompt search, and arrested the negre, who was named Robert McGill, and who had close on two thousand dollars in his possession, which belonged to the captain of the "Olympian"; and it was in order to effect the robbery of this money that McGill first of all secreted himself on board the schooner.

ACUTE BRIGHT'S DISEASE

FELL UNCONSCIOUS WITH THE VIOLENT PAIN IN HIS BACK, 40, Prechold Street.

York Road, Leeds, England. EAR SIRS :- I cannot find words to express my gratitude for the good your Doan's Backache Kidney Pills have done me. They have indeed saved my TIOTAL FUNDS AT 31ST DECEMBER, 1904, life. I am sure you will be interested in my case, and I will describe it to you as well as I can : -

In 1893, I had a man in, doing some work in the garden. After a hearty dinner took a stroll down to see how III-Life & Annuity Funds 13,472,532 7 0 he was getting on. I had never better in my life than I did . £17,161,295 19 9 then. But suddenly a most agonising pain darted through my back, and I came over so dizzy that I swayed to and fro, and 4 should have fallen to the ground if my son in law hadn't come up just in time and caught me. I fell into his arms unconscious, and was taken to bed. The doctor who was summoned called in the best Life Departments are free from liability in physician in Leeds, to consult with him over the case, and together they decided it was acute Bright's disease. For three weeks I was semi-conscious, 1537 and was nourished almost entirely by liquids. When at last I came to myself ached in every bone, and the pain in my back was simply cruel. The kidney secretions were foul and coloured, and I felt thoroughly worn out. For six weeks I was dangerously ill, but the clever doctors nulled me through, and I was so much better that I could get about a little after a while. Later on, however, I had another terrible seizure, and off and on from that time the least cold or chill has told on my back and kidneys, making my life a misery. Now, your Doan's Backache Kidney Pills have proved just my medicine; before I had finished the first box I was beginning 1412 to mend; my kidneys were easier than they had been ever since 1893, and I felt brighter and better altogether. I therefore dropped the doctor's medicine, and used Doan's Pills persistently and solely. Now I am able to say that my back is as strong as ever it was. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine, and I gladly give you permission to publish my letter.

Believe me, yours faithfully, (Signed) George Westakes. Writing some weeks later, Mr Whitaker said: 'Use my testimonial wherever you like. I am not ashamed for people to know what your medicine has done for me, and will gladly answer any inquiries about my cure. I have never found anything so good and reliable as Doan's Backache Kid-Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are 2/9 a box, or 13/9 for 6 boxes. To be had of all chemists and medicine-deslers, or direct from the proprietors, the Fester-McClellan 2249 Co., 8, Wells Street, Oxford Street, London, England, post free on receipt of price.

Mr Kata's mission is to study the harbour of Utila for Belizo. The vessel Fisheries of Great Britain, and to make an extensive report not only on the methods employed in the catching but also in the handling and final disposition of the fish. He describes his official position as the Consulting Engineer to the Fisheries of Additional importance is attached to the report that he will make, since this will influence the Tokio authorities in the choice and general arrangements of a new central market which they have decided to build. The 'Nihonbashi,' the present H. B. M.'s GOVERNMENT, &c., &c. Japanese 'Billingsgate, 'is situated in the very heart of the city, and in many ways is below the high standard that the council are striving for. Mr Kata, whose headquarters are at the office of the Japanese Consul-General, is quite a young man for so important a post, and speaks English fluently. 'I have just returned, he said to one of our representatives 'from visit to your Billingsgate Market, which have explored and examined most minute-

The system employed is similar to ours in the Nihonbashi, but in every detail is more perfect, and certainly more modern. The
